Information About My College Papers:

The papers that I have written while a student at Eastern Kentucky University are all here and viewable. Some of them are response papers to articles or other writings. These may not make total sense. However, I believe they are still worth viewing.

The ones that are not responsive to something will give a good read too. Take a look. I want feedback from anyone who wishes to give it. I have labeled each link to a paper with the class that it was done in and if it was responsive or not. When a link to a paper says "response to", that means the paper is going to be a response to an article or other writing and may not make as much sense (as one would like to get the full story). When a link to a paper says "experience in", that means the paper is a response to an experience and will give the whole story. These papers will be pretty good reads. The ones that have classes only beside them aren't in response to anything like that and will be understandable to anyone. To anyone who reads my personal narratives for "Eng. 101 and Eng. 102, please read the Eng.102 first because this one is about my early years (bio), then go to the Eng. 101 paper for my later years to present years (bio). The reason that he papers are arranged for the personal narratives this way is that I took Eng. 102 first then I took Eng. 101.

The reasons to put responsive writing here would include: First, giving my opinion on things that other students might have given response to and therefore give my voice to it. Second, maybe some people might be curious about topics that students respond to and so give an interesting point of view to the college experience. Enjoy!!!!!!

NoteThese papers were written in school, so these papers don't have my usual opening "By God And Richie Heinlein (In God I Trust And Write). So, in keeping with the continuity of the papers—Keeping the teacher's required openings, these papers from college don't say that.
